

How Christmas is celebrated in America

By Leola Motley

Christmas is celebrated every year on the 25th of December; it commemorates the birth of Jesus. Many Americans, celebrate the birth of Jesus at Christmas. Several churches have special Christmas programs, and they serve dinner.

Americans love to go Caroling on Christmas. Many houses are decorated, and the beautiful street lights are amazing. In the USA, the Rockefeller Center in NY is well known for street lights during the Christmas season.

Today, most Americans spend Christmas with their family, cooking food, and decorating, this is a ritual for most Americans. Turkey, chicken, ham, pot roast, vegetables, and assorted pasta dishes are popular foods that Americans eat on Christmas day. Sweet potato pie, apple pie, pumpkin pie, cakes, and cookies are popular desserts people eat on Christmas.

In some communities, they have parties to celebrate the festive days. They also have Christmas shows, and parades. In America, Christmas is the season for giving; exchanging gifts and opening presents. The shopping centers, and malls are very crowded during the Christmas season. During this time of the year, you can catch many sales, and get many nice things. For many, Christmas is the season to show family and friends they care.
